Royal Announcements to the People on National Days

Issue No. 117 - Dec 2007

For nations, national anniversaries are national pride and events to review the past achievements and envision future development.

In Oman, the National Day anniversaries were marked with the tradition of a Royal address given every year by His Majesty Sultan Qaboos bin Said to his people, explaining the government's policies and declaring new decisions, etc.

Following are the prominent achievements announced in His Majesty's National Day speeches to the nation:

Research

First National Day anniversary, 1971, His Majesty emphasized that the country would be built, and decent standard of living would be provided for everybody, but these goals would only be achieved by the people's participation in building the nation, in securing democratic and just rule within the local traditions and the realities of Oman and the Arab world.

National Day II, 1972: His Majesty emphasized that efforts would be concentrated in the first place on education. He declared the establishment of a supreme council for economy and development, the construction of Madinat Sultan Qaboos in Al-Khuwair, expansion of the government centres, establishment of municipalities in the main towns. His Majesty declared also that the Sultanate had become member of the International Civil Aviation Organization.

National Day III, 1973: His Majesty declared that work had been completed in the construction of the road from the Capital, Muscat to Sohar, and began in the construction of A'Seeb-Nizwa road, and in the improvement of the road linking the Dhofar Governorate with the north. He announced two agreements, one for Muscat-Muttrah road, and the other for the establishment of a cement factory. He declared also the inauguration of the Central Laboratory of the General Development Organization.

National Day IV, 1974: The anniversary coincided with the opening of Port Sultan Qaboos. His Majesty declared the establishment of a higher council for economic development, the implementation of some road projects including Bid Bid – Sur, Al-Musanna' - Al-Rustaq, Sohar-Al-Buraimi, and Nizwa roads.

National Day V, 1975: His Majesty mentioned the extension of the coloured TV transmission to cover the Southern Region. He emphasized the ongoing process of opening of schools, hospitals, and construction of roads, etc.

National Day VI, 1976: His Majesty declared that Orders of Merit would be granted in National Day anniversaries for those who achieved good services to the country. He advised his people, after the victory over the outlaws, to be aware and not be drifted by false temptations, to fight troubles of all forms, and save efforts for the development of the country.

National Day VII, 1977: His Majesty declared the approval of a study for the construction of a large sports complex. He commended the Sultan Armed Forces for their great efforts to ease the effects of the cyclone that hit the Sultanate at that time.

National Day VIII, 1978: His Majesty called for Arab unity, and said that differences of opinion did not cause problems between the Arab leaders. He emphasized the Sultanate's support for all peaceful initiatives.

National Day IX, 1979: His Majesty stressed the importance of Hurmuz Passes and pledged to defend the right of all peaceful ships to travel through the passes.

National Day X, 1980: His Majesty declared the establishment of Sultan Qaboos University, assigned a professional authority to expand the base of the consultancy body. He stressed the need to preserve Oman's cultural heritage and the works of the earlier thinkers and scholars.

National Day XI, 1981 (Salalah): His Majesty mentioned the beginning of the Second Development Plan, and the opening of the Consultancy Council in the previous year.

National Day XII, 1982: His Majesty declared the laying of the foundation stone of the Sultan Qaboos University, the establishment of a complete sports town, a supreme council of youth. He declared next year an Omani youth year, and the next National Day ceremonies would be dedicated to youth. His Majesty stressed the need to diversify the sources of national income and not to depend on oil only, emphasized the government's endeavour to set up development plans that were flexible enough to absorb international economic shocks.

National Day XIII, 1983: His Majesty vowed to give the Omani youth special care, boost their morale, upgrade their standards in order to be able to bear responsibilities, safeguard the country's dignity and independence on firm bases of Islamic values and Omani traditions.

National Day XIV, 1984: His Majesty called for ending the Iraqi-Iranian war urging the two parties to sit for negotiations. He called on the peoples and governments of the world to exert efforts for prevailing peace all over the world.

National Day XV, 1985: The event coincided with the convening of the 6th Session of the Arab Gulf Cooperation Council (AGCC) in Oman. His Majesty commended the Council's important role and remarkable progress. He emphasized the continued march of development and the need to focus on the agricultural, industrial and fishes sectors. He commended the Sultanate's experience in the process of consultation within the State Consultative Council.

National Day XVI, 1986: His Majesty urged for the diversifying the sources of income, respecting the occupations of the forefathers, and called the youth to join work in all fields.

National Day XVII, 1987: His Majesty said that he had issued a decision to establish an Omani fisheries company, declared the next year a year of agriculture, and mentioned the inauguration of the Royal Hospital.

National Day XVIII, 1988: His Majesty declared the next year another year of agriculture, and ordered the government to study a project for the construction of model villages for fishermen in different regions of Oman. He said that an international consultant had been assigned to put the government's studies into a long-term national development plan for the agricultural, fish and animal sectors.

National Day XIX, 1989: His Majesty encouraged the youth to seek jobs in any field in the public and private sectors, and not to disdain to do any work.

National Day XX (Silver Jubilee), 1990: His Majesty declared that the next year would be a year of industry with emphasis on both traditional crafts and modern manufacturing. He declared the establishment of Majlis A'shoora (parliament) with representatives from all wilayats.

National Day XXI, 1991: His Majesty announced

Fount of Wisdom

- Age doesn't always bring wisdom. Sometimes age comes alone.
- Always remember you're unique. Just like everyone else.
- An optimist thinks that this is the best possible world. A pessimist fears that this is true.
- As long as there are tests, there will be prayer in public schools.
- Experience is something you don't get until just after you need it.
- If you tell the truth, you don't have to remember anything.
- Money can't buy happiness, but it sure makes misery easy to live with.

Jokes:

- A lawyer defending a man accused of burglary tried this creative defense:

"My client merely inserted his arm into the window and removed a few trifling articles. His arm is not himself, and I fail to see how you can punish the whole individual for an offense committed by his limb."

"Well put," the judge replied. "Using your logic, I sentence the defendant's arm to one year's imprisonment. He can accompany it or not, as he chooses."

The defendant smiled. And, with his lawyer's assistance, he detached his artificial limb, laid it on the bench and walked out.

- A site foreman had ten very lazy men working for him, so one day he decided to trick them into doing some work for a change. "I've got a really easy job today for the laziest one among you," he announced. "Will the laziest man please put his hand up?"

Nine hands went up.

"Why didn't you put your hand up?" he asked the tenth man.

"Too much trouble," came the reply.

- A first grade teacher collected well-known proverbs. She gave each kid in the class the first half of the proverb, and asked them to fill in the rest. Here's what the kids came up with:

1. Better to be safe than... punch a 5th grader.
2. Strike while the... bug is close.
3. It's always darkest before... daylight savings time.
4. Never underestimate the power of... termites.
5. You can lead a horse to water but... how?
6. Don't bite the hand that... looks dirty.
7. No news is... impossible.
8. A miss is as good as a... Mr.
9. You can't teach an old dog... math.
10. If you lie down with dogs, you... will stink in the morning.

- A scientist gets on a train to go to New York. His cabin also has a poor farmer in it. To pass the time the scientist decides to play a game with the guy.

"I will ask you a question and if you get it wrong, you have to pay me 1 dollar. Then you ask me a question, and if I get it wrong, you get 10 dollars. You ask me a question first." The farmer thinks for a while.

"I know. What has three legs, takes 10 hours to climb up a palm tree, and 10 seconds to get back down?" The scientist is confused and thinks long and hard about the question. Finally, the train ride is coming to an end. As it pulls into the station, the scientist takes out 10 dollars and gives it to the farmer.

"I don't know. What has 3 legs, takes 10 hours to get up a palm tree and 10 seconds to get back down?" The farmer takes the 10 dollars and puts it into his pocket. He then takes out 1 dollar and hands it to the scientist.

"I don't know."

- As a pre-med student at Washington University in St. Louis, I had to take a difficult class in physics. One day our professor was discussing a particularly complicated concept. A student rudely interrupted to ask, "Why do we have to learn this stuff?"

"To save lives." The professor responded quickly and continued the lecture.

A few minutes later, the same student spoke up again. "So how does physics save lives?" he persisted.

"It usually keeps the idiots like you out of medical school," replied the professor.

- English language is hard to learn:

- 1) The bandage was wound around the wound.
